1. Introduction

The House of Commons and the Senate have failed Sarovian interests for over two months. The two legislative branches have done nothing and have failed to meet on time, thus increasing their ineffectiveness. The House of Commons and Senate will be shut down and will not be considered to be opened until August 20th, 2017. All former Senators and elected officials are now relieved of duty indefinitely

2. Landesgrad

Following the Proclamation of the New Sarovian Empire, the Empire sees it as no longer necessary to maintain a Senate or a House of Commons. Therefore, the following amendments shall be made to the Imperial government for a new advisory body known as the Landesgrad, as well as for a revamped nobility.

The goals of the Landesgrad follow under three main categories: advising the Crown, protecting the land they are tasked to govern, and connecting with the citizens (normal players) within their province. The Landesgrad will advise King Carolus to ensure he makes the right decision on all occasions. The members of the Landesgrad will be appointed to govern different Sarovian provinces, and will be tasked to defend, oversee, enforce law and produce funds for their province.

The Landesgrad will also be in charge of connecting with the provincial citizenry. Telling the citizens within their province that they are the Sarovian noble in charge of it and engaging in conversation with them may spark people to be recruited. This proposal also includes a reform of the Nobility. The Vasa name may be given at will by the King to anyone he deems worthy of the name. They will then be given a title and a demesne (province). This will be a part of the New Sarovian Empire that they must govern. They are free to call Royal troops if their demesne is in danger. If the noble in question is a military officer, they are free to use their division's troops as a guard.

3. Landesgrad Organisation

The Landesgrad shall meet in the throne room of the Royal Palace, the Guild House of King Carolus' Palace Account. Alternatively, they can also meet in Sardonstad, Mt. Sorrel or in the Imperial capital city of Sarholm. All nobles will have the Vasa name, and shall all have seats on the Landesgrad. The King shall also appoint a noble from amongst the Landesgrad to serve as Speaker. The Speaker shall preside over the meetings, with the King supervising. They will set the procedure for the meeting, and will open formal debate periods, voting periods should a vote be necessary, et cetera. Any member of the Landesgrad may call for a voting period in order to make the visualisation of the opinions of each member more clear and simple. The Speaker will then hold and preside over the voting period. Only the King can call a meeting of the Landesgrad, however the Speaker can call it if the King approves. The Speaker may adjourn a meeting, though this can be overruled by the King. The Landesgrad may discuss any topic, but decorum must be upheld and mature, topical conversation must take place at all times during the meeting.
